WHAT IS TEQUILA?

Tequila is Mexico's national spirit. Like all other alcoholic products, it is derived from fermentable sugar. But tequila is unique in that its source of sugar is the Blue Agave plant. The Blue Agave is a dramatically beautiful plant of blue coloring, similar in look to a giant aloe. It can reach a height of six feet and although it looks like a cactus, it is in fact a member of the Lily family. At the heart of the Blue Agave is the "piña" - similar in appearance to a pineapple - which produces the "aguamiel" or "honey water" that is the source of tequila.

Much like cognac, which can only be produced in the Cognac region of France, tequila must be produced within certain designated areas of Mexico, mostly in the state of Jalisco.

There are Two Categories of Tequila:

100% Blue Agave Tequila

- 100% of sugars come from the Blue Agave plant
- A more intense agave flavour
- May be bottled only in designated regions of Mexico

Mixto Tequila

- At least 51% of sugars must come from Blue Agave, the rest from other sources
- A softer, more subtle agave flavour
- May be shipped in bulk and bottled in other countries

THE 4 TYPES OF TEQUILA

The four different types of tequila are based on the aging technique.

Blanco

Blanco, also known as silver, is clear tequila that is not aged. Its fresh, fruity flavour is the most direct expression of agave and makes Blanco a great choice for mixed drinks. Blancos are the base for all other tequilas, so to get a good comparison between the “house styles” of various distillers, you should compare their Blancos.

Joven

Joven or gold tequila is usually an unaged tequila to which caramels have been added to create a rich, tawny colour. As with Blancos, Jovens are best suited to mixed drinks. They tend to taste slightly sweeter than Blancos, and may have caramel aromas.

Reposado

Reposado or “rested” tequilas are aged in wood tanks or barrels for at least two months. They are often pale straw in colour and are mellower than the Blancos and Jovens. They provide smooth mixability for more sophisticated cocktails or can be enjoyed straight.

Añejo

Añejo tequila must be aged in oak barrels for twelve months or more. It is gold to amber in colour and has a soft, smooth, complex flavour brought on by its marriage with the aromatic wood. This is the tequila to sip slowly and appreciatively, just as you would a fine cognac or armagnac. It is even delightful as an after-dinner drink.

TEQUILA FLIGHT TASTING

Experience three 100% agave tequilas. Great for sharing and conversation. Samplers include a 1/2 ounce each of the listed tequilas. Served in a sniffer to enhance your tasting experience. 20.00

Don Julio Añejo

A testament to Don Julio's patience and determination for superior quality. A fresh blend of lime, grapefruit and mandarin citrus aromas with a rich touch of caramel.

Don Julio Reposado

An inviting aroma of mellow lemon, citrus notes and spice layers with touches of ripe stone fruit. Incredibly soft and elegant with hints of dark chocolate, vanilla and light cinnamon.

Don Julio Blanco

Crisp agave aromas blended with hints of fresh citrus. Notes of lemon, lime and grapefruit. Lightly sweet and incredibly pure agave flavor

Accompanied with a glass of Sangrita, a traditional Mexican accompaniment for Tequila made with spicy tomato, orange & lime juice.
